

The world is ending, at least as everyone knows it. With the Resonance Virus running rampant among the population and having developed an immunity to earlier cures, an assortment of the elite and those who happened to be near them at the time have been herded into bunkers across the nation. At one such bunker, scientists who were involved in the Resonance Project have been working around the clock on a new cure. As the hospital ward in the underground bunker is sealed, all anyone can pray for is that they will be among those who survive this apocalypse.

The world might very well be ending right now, and it's all your fault.

You had no idea what was really going on, that the children were only talking to you just to pump you for information about the facility. You just wanted to be nice to some kids who you thought didn't know anything about anything. In reality, they were smarter than you, and they duped and used you into giving them everything they needed in order to break out of the lab. How could you be such an idiot? You not only compromised a multi-billion dollar government endeavor, you may have brought about the end of the world.

Your career is certainly over for this, probably your freedom as well. Certain people want to have you court-martialed for your foolishness and locked away for the rest of your life. The only reason you're here now is because Rosen and Solan won't let you out of their sight so they are certain to have the chance to punish you. You were even used as a test subject for the vaccine.

No matter. Nothing they can do to you will ever be as harsh as what you will do to yourself. How can you live with the guilt that the world was destroyed because you allowed the carriers of the virus to get loose and spread it?