

The scenes happened. It is back story.

Began as a research -project in the United States working towards a cure for autism. Military officials saw a possible application for the research as a non-lethal weapon for crowd control. Pentagon funding for the project became available and the project became highly classified due to legal concerns over US international obligations. The prospects of human testing later raised even more concerns.

Some early research was shared with Israel, and numerous other nations had some intelligence concerning the project.

Early trials were done on primates and autistic children.

Early tests show some positive results for the biological agent and viral antagonist. Later tests show that the biological agent is adapting rapidly to the early antidote.

Autistic children in human trials are effectively "cured" by Resonance. In addition, some of the savants are now brilliant and slightly telepathic. The children stage a massively coordinated and highly unexpected break from the facility. Afterwards, the virus is out among the populace.
